It would be simply tedious at this dute to go again through all the details which prove that the movement was carefully worked up by the culate. We shall do nothing in China until-Mandarius, and might at almost any stage have been put down by them. It is, however, deeply to be regretted that a home paper possessing much influence should give forth such monstrously distorted views as those enunciated by the Daily News. As was recently noticed, the statements of that paper have a certain significance at the present time, as in some degree indicating the views taken by the Government; and if the utterances quoted elsewhere are an exposition of their ideas, it is too much to be feared that they will be infatuated enough to allow matters in China to go on from bad to worse, even after the terrible warning which has recently been given. The concluding words of the article, to the effect that the Missionary will incur less risk when he has only his faith to sustain him, than when he has his Government to fall back upon, comes naturally as a finale to what precedes. No doubt this is perfectly true, but the same argument would apply to merchants, and in fact to all who resort to China: "The only point at which the argument becomes a little weak is that, if we did not have our Government it has been slowed. The commander had done to the claimitif's character by a summary and agnorance of superstations and agnorance of super weak is that, if we did not have our Governhe is a foreigner. The plain fact is that no European is safe here, except so far as he is protected by his Government; and the foolish declaration made at home, both in the House of Lords and the House of Commons that the same protection would not be accorded to Missionaries as to others, no doubt misled the Chinese into the belief that they might vent their batred to Europeans in

If it really were the case that religious fanaticism had anything to do with the matter. there might be something in the arguments included in the ordinary rule for exemption a letter of discharge. The difference was adduced. But the Chinese are too indifferent to all religion ever to rise on such grounds. > long period of years, the average number of persons who have destroyed themselves bus een at the rate of 110 per million inhabitants in la joyettes France, and only 69 per million in spleen-smitten Albion. During the past year no less than 5.011 persons committed suicide in France—4.008 men, and 1,003 women. Of these, 900 men and 407 women drowned themselves; 1,972 men and 335 women chose death by hanging: 488 men shot thems lives, while but 5 women owed their death to firenems; 192 men and T13 women made use of the fumes of charcoal; knives were used by 176 men and 33 women; poison by 74 men and 44 women 99 men and 55 women met death by jumping from windows, towers, &c.; 31 persons flung themselves in the way of trains. One appears that hanging is the most prevalent method of self-destruction in France: then comes drowning, then suffocation by charcoal and lastly, by poison. It is well-known fact that, so far from dearensing, the number of snicides increases in a direct ratio to the spread of education and civilization. In Prussia, the most highly educated country, in Europe, the annual average of persons per million inbabitants who destroy themselves is 240 - more than double the average of France, and nearly fourfold that of England. On the other hand, in Spain the average of suicides is only 14 permillion inhabitants, -Public Opinion,

All the now words which the Chinese have of late years been com- Instruments, Strings, Sheet Music and Books. pelled to coin to express the numerous objects! in machinery; photography, telegraphy, and in All instruments carefully tested and packet actions generally, which the rapid advance of in a thorough manner. 18m 1410 July 29 foreign relations has imposed upon them, are here given in extense. Each and every word is fully illustrated and explained, forming exercises for students of a most instructive nature. Both the Court and Punti pronunciations are vendome, PARIS), given, the accents being carefully marked on the best principle hitherto attained. The type. H. VICTORIA DISPENSARY graphy displays the success of an attempt to make the Chinese and English type correspond in the size of body, thereby effecting a vast economy of space, believing a clearness not previously attained, and dispensing with those wast margins and vacant spaces which have heretofore characterized Ohinese publications. The scope of the work is so great, and its utilitarian purposes so complete, that a reference to its pages enables a person who understands English to communicate effectively with natives who understand nothing but Chinese. In this respect the work will be found indispensable to all Europeans residing in Chine China, and to the natives themselves it explains subjects fully, with which very few in-deed of them are perfectly acquainted. To parties resident in England and interested in Olina it cannot but be invaluable occasionally.
